Please see if I'm using the wrong software or the wrong steps. A: I guess you want to automate the process. If that's the case, rather than having some complicated method of controlling the software, just create a .bat file and run it in an infinite loop on the PC. The script will prompt for input, and do its thing. Maybe something like this: @echo off Title LINUS Script set /p inp=Input: for /f "tokens=1,2 delims==" %%A in ("prompt $inp$^& exit" ) do ( if '%%A' == 'inp' ( "C:\You\Script.bat" input ) else ( rem next line executes the rest of the script rem (it's an infinite loop) ) ) And that's all. If you want to get fancy, you can put some commands between those to execute the options you want, have the rest of the script in the 'else' part, and optionally have some more options at the beginning so you can control the length of the pause before running the script.
